

YR HARBWR

Did you see the Satellite Photo on the BBC of the British Isles totally covered in snow apart from little bit - Here on the North Coast of Anglesey. The week of the heavy snow was just before New Year and we had phonecalls from guests ringing up asking if they could get to us for the festivities. Some didn't believe us when we said "no snow here" and we did have some cancellations. The old wives tale says that heavy snow means a sunny summer and after 3 years of extremely wet and damp Augusts, the law of averages must mean that we are due some Summer sunshine at last. We have been very pleased with the new layout and Gastro Menu in the Bistro, it has worked well over the Winter period and should hit stride when the Tourist Season starts again at Easter. If you haven't tried the new menu yet we have had a great hit with the Battered Cod, the Home Made Burgers, the Rump, Ribeye and Sirloin Steaks and local customers and hotel guests have been enjoying the Daily Specials too. Lots going with sport and Music plus we have the "Amore" Weekend (£15-3 Course Italian Menu) over Valentines Weekend. As ever pop in for a look round - Jamie

WINTER 2010

YR HARBWR
BARIAU • BISTRO • GWESTY

With our 50inch TV screens and 2 SKY boxes and plenty of space we were told recently by a visitor that the Harbour Sports Bar is the best place to watch sports on Anglesey. Of course we are happy to agree. We show all televised Premiership games and most sporting occasions. We even had early birds in to watch Andy Murray in the Australian Tennis Finals. Roll on the 6 Nations
